At Surabaya, shipping requirements as regards repairs and overhauling, have been somewhat met by the opening of a private dock there. The enterprise is under the management of an association styled the Surabaya Dock Company. The dock is about 230 feet long, and can take on ships not exceeding 2,000 tons measurement. The Surabaya Courant of the 14th October announces its being in full working order. It is specially intended for merchant vessels in the roadstead. Hitherto, they had to rely on the Government dock which could only be turned to account with no end of trouble and difficulty. Every vessel, no larger than the measurement specified above, orders to embark at Gibraltar at the beginning can now undergo the needful overhand without delay. There is no need now of such craft resorting to Singapore for the slightest repair below the water line. The dock was originally a Government one. It was sold to a number of experts, who lost no time in fitting and renewing pieces with a view to removing the fore-end to a it for speculative purposes.
